Cedar Gate Technologies Receives Cool Vendor Designation in Gartner Report

Greenwich, Connecticut – Cedar Gate Technologies, a value-based care performance management analytic company, was one of four companies to receive a Cool Vendor designation in Gartner’s April, 2017 “Cool Vendors in Health-Value Management for U.S. Healthcare,” report.

Every year, Gartner selects sets of Cool Vendors – up-and-coming technology providers across a wide range of industry and functional domains. These vendors’ innovative technologies, value propositions and business models may not be suitable for every enterprise’s needs.

This year’s Cool Vendors share a common theme of leveraging a new technology to provide an innovative new offering or solution that address payer’s most pressing problems.

“We are very pleased Gartner has designated us as a Cool Vendor in this year’s report,” says David B. Snow Jr., CEO of Cedar Gate Technologies. “Our ISAAC™ platform’s unconventional application of predictive and prescriptive analytics to value-based performance management sets it apart from population health management companies. ISAAC™ aims to improve healthcare delivery systems – in essence fixing-the-healthcare-factories – instead of chasing individual patients. Each fix will improve the quality-of-care for thousands of patients and save millions of dollars.”

ISAAC™ is a cloud-based, SaaS platform that utilizes claims and other data accessed from any source. Payers, providers and self-insured employers use it to optimize risk-based contracts, reduce medical spend, improve medical loss ratios and improve provider network and clinical performance – all on a single platform.

About Cedar Gate Technologies
